350 Newcomers Register To Vote

Nearly 350 new residents of Greenbelt registered to vote during Registration Day on Tuesday, May 25, at the Center School.

The registration clerks were kept busy up to the last minute and had to close the doors at 9 p.m. in order to assure they would go home before midnight.

The greatest rush came in the evening hours when most people had to wait as long as an hour before they signed up. The line was quiet and orderly, and most people seemed quite willing to wait for their last chance to vote in the primaries and November elections.

St. Hugh's Pupils Win 2 Scholarships

Two eighth-grade students at St. Hugh's have been awarded two-year scholarships to Mackin High School. They are Paula Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henry, 9-M Ridge, and Judy Loftus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Loftus, 7-J Crescent.

Only about six of these scholarships, which have a value of about $520, are awarded to Catholic students throughout the Washington diocese, which includes the Maryland and Virginia suburban areas. This is the first year that St. Hugh's has had an eighth grade and was eligible to compete.

Grades of at least 90 must be maintained by students during their first seven years and grades of at least 95 during the eighth year in order to qualify for the scholarships.

Judy Loftus, however, has turned down the scholarship as she plans to attend Notre Dame High School, the same school attended by her parents.

Kindergarten Has Room For Few More

The Greenbelt Cooperative Kindergarten announces that there are still a few openings for the next term starting in September.

The school is supervised by the County Board of Education and under the direction of the school principal.

A qualified teacher is in charge of a class of 25 children. Few schools, if any, in this area can boast of such small classes.

Please call Anne Chotiner, GR. 3-4521, for North End School; Anita Gilbert, GR. 4-9357, for Center School.

Rev. Strausburg Makes Farewell Bow Sunday

Reverend C. R. Strausburg will officially retire as pastor of the Mowatt Memorial Methodist Church when he delivers his farewell sermon on Sunday, May 30. He will end nearly 60 years of service in the ministry, the last three of which have been with the Methodist Church here in Greenbelt.

Rev. Strausburg had previously retired after having served as pastor in churches throughout the Maryland, Virginia, and Delaware area. He returned to active service to serve as pastor of the Mowatt Church in 1951.

During his pastorate here 145 people have joined the local church, including 44 during the past year. Rev. Strausburg has also led the congregation's campaign for the construction of a new building. Only last Sunday he officiated at the ground-breaking ceremonies for the first unit of the building at the site on Ridge Road. Construction is expected to begin about June 20.

Members of the congregation have paid high tribute to Rev. Strausburg for his work. William Hoff, chairman of the board of trustees of the church, has stated, "As long as we have leaders in religion of the character and caliber of Rev. Strausburg, America and Americans have no need to fear the future." Richard Hoffman, chairman of the building committee, commented that "Rev. Strausburg has that rare faith and determination that is an inspiration to everyone who has come in contact with him."

A reception will be held for Rev. and Mrs. Strausburg on Sunday, May 30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan, 2-H Westway from 2 to 4 p.m.

Council Establishes Engineering Department

A new "engineering department" will be established in the municipal administration, it was disclosed at last Monday night's city council meeting. City manager Charles McDonald requested the new department because of the need for qualified personnel to oversee the numerous engineering problems in the city at present and contemplated by new development. Chief function of the new department will be to inspect utility construction, and to work on the many engineering features the city possesses.

In the past, McDonald explained, he has spent considerable time on engineering details for the city, and the amount of this kind of work has increased until a separate department is needed to cope with it.

The new head coach is a native of South Williamsport, Pa., where he starred in football and basketball in high school. He served for two years as basketball coach at the University's Undergraduate Center at DuBois before his appointment as Gross' assistant in 1949.

Egli, whose brother Bob is well-known in Greenbelt, and his wife, the former Nathel Kessler of DuBois, are the parents of three children ranging in age from six to nine years.

College Tests Power Lawn Mowers

Prof. James Tyson, nationally known lawn authority, compares mowing ability of reel-type vs. rotary power lawn mowers.

Millions of Americans will be shopping for a power lawn mower for the first time this year and their most common question will be, "What type should I buy—reel or rotary?"

Dr. James Tyson, director of Soils Science at Michigan State College, conducted extensive experiments on this question and found that the reel-type mower, which has a scissors action, is best for lawns where appearance is the most important factor.

On lawns or fields which contain tall weeds and tough grasses, the rotary mower, which cuts with a free spinning, high speed blade, is recommended.

In the top unretouched photograph, Dr. Tyson points to a swath cut with a reel-type mower. It is neat-looking and has a healthy green color. He is kneeling in a swath cut with a rotary which appears ragged and has a white cast. The machines used were factory new and the grass plots were exactly similar before mowing. Directly below is an unretouched micro-photograph showing blades of grass cut with each type of mower. Note how "even" the top edges of the six grass blades on the left appear. They were cut with a reel mower. The tips of the six blades on the right, cut with a rotary, look shredded and vary in height. Multiply this effect over the tens of thousands of grass blades found in an average-size lawn and you realize why Dr. Tyson recommends the reel-type power lawn mower for use where "appearance" is the prime consideration.

Baseball Contracts Due Immediately

Greenbelt Babe Ruth League aspirants met in a spirited practice game at Braden Field last Saturday morning under the watchful eyes of Don Wolfe. This coming Saturday morning will be a departure from past sessions. Half the squad will go with Coach Bill Moore to Green Meadows for a game and the remaining Bambinos will report to Wolfe at Braden Field as usual.

Perturbed over lack of cooperation from the youthful ball players over administrative matters Coaches Moore and Wolfe are issuing a decree to all Babe Ruth candidates that they will not be considered as such until they — the players — bring in signed contracts, the insurance fee, $1.50 cash and birth certificates. Without these contracts, insurance cash and birth certificates the league directors cannot set up the local league with National Headquarters in time for this summer's participation. Parents of all Babe Ruthers are urged to see to it that their youngsters turn in these all-important three items to Don Wolfe or Bill Moore right away.

New candidates, boys who have not already been out, may secure contracts from Wolfe this Saturday morning at Braden Field or anytime at the City Office. This league will play morning ball this summer after school is out and any 13, 14 or 15 year old Greenbelt boy is eligible.

Notice the Babe Ruth League window display in the corner window at the Variety Store, sponsor of one of the teams in the Babe Ruth League of Greenbelt.

County Starts Day Camp Program Soon

A Day Camp for boys and girls, 8 to 11, will be conducted by the Prince Georges Recreation Department for the first time this summer. The Camp, which will be located in the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission's Anacostia River Park, Tanglewood Drive, Riverdale, Maryland, will be conducted in four two-week sessions: June 21 — July 2; July 5 — July 16; July 19 — July 30; August 2 — August 13. A fee of $10 will be charged for each two weeks' session which provides milk, craft supplies and cost of weekly trips away from camp. Children will furnish their own transportation to and from camp and will provide their own lunches.

The Day Camp program will include crafts of the out-doors, hiking, fishing, nature lore, singing, games, swimming trips, out-door cooking, story telling, etc. Campers plan their activities with the help of trained counsellors and emphasis is placed on camp skills and gaining a knowledge of the out-of-doors.

Registration for the Camp is now open and registration blanks and further information can be secured from the Prince Georges County Recreation Department, 4811 Riverdale Road, Riverdale, Maryland, Appleton 7-2207.

The Long View

By A. C. Long

This is written in San Francisco, "the city loved around the world," where the War of the Cable Cars was marked with another furious battle when the Hydle-O'Fomell cable cars have lost out to modern motor buses. Not without a fight, though. The fighting may go on in Indo-China, the McCarthy hearings may be suspended, a meteor drop in San Francisco Bay and the Supreme Court change the social pattern of the country; but all these and other world shaking events meant nothing to several hundred cable car enthusiasts as they piled on old No. 5 (the last cable car on the Hydle-O'Fomell line), pushed it back out of the car barns and waged a losing battle with reinforced police to keep it from being put away for its final rest. But the war isn't over! The Citizens Committee to Save the Cable Cars is confident of getting enough signatures for a charter amendment on the ballot to compel restoration of the abandoned cable car lines. (Other cable cars on the other lines are still clang-clanging away as bold and confident as ever.) There is something very American in all this. As long as the Cable Car War goes on fighting against overly efficient bureaucrats, all is well, fundamentally, with the country.

Greenbelt is becoming well known throughout the country. Only a short time ago, I had to explain to people where it is, what it is and why it is. But now all that is changed. Everyone knows where and what, although there are a lot of questions on "Why?". This makes it very difficult because previously I merely mentioned it was a pretty place near Washington and wonderful for raising children. That was sufficient because no one was ever interested enough to ask further questions. Now they are full of inquiries and I'm hard pressed for answers.

For example, what do you say to a Seattle merchant when he asks, "What do the business men in Greenbelt think of all this?" "Oh", you answer, "we have no business men in that sense". "Why?" "Because the Government by means of a peculiar lease arbitrarily limits all business to a single monopolistic co-op corporation". "Not the American Government?" "Oh, yes."

Or to a Legionnaire from the fine big community minded post who inquired, "Well, with such a heavy veteran population you must have one of the outstanding Legion posts in the East?" "No", is the reply, "we have a very average post because a great many veterans don't join and help make it a real top notch community asset, and others like myself, I'm ashamed to admit, are past due paying members and neglect our responsibility to the post and the town."

Or to a socialist in San Francisco who gushes, "But with those kind of people and your own theater you must have a marvelous little theater group?" "No, I'm afraid we don't. No one seems to get far enough away from their television to see if we have any home talent. Nor do we have any open discussion groups or public debates. In fact, all we have, I guess, is a pretty town and lots of nice kids."

Maybe Greenbelt isn't so much after all when you compare it with the accomplishment of active citizen groups elsewhere in the country. What do you think?

Fishing Lines

Last Thursday evening Dr. Littleford and Dr. Allen of the University of Maryland were present at the Izaak Walton meeting and reported on the Lake and the reason for some of the fish dying. Dr. Littleford stated that he did not consider the oil in the lake a serious problem as yet and that the amount there at this time probably was not harmful to the fish. He said that the most likely cause for the dead fish, especially the small bluegills, was the heavy amount of pollen collecting on the lake surface early this spring. The fish feed by taking water into the mouth and passing it out over their gills removing any food as it passes over. Any foreign element like pollen will collect on the gill surfaces and eventually cut off breathing. The fish dies of suffocation. Oil would do the same thing if it were present in large enough quantity. He stated that killing a few of the small bluegills was probably beneficial rather than harmful as the lake was overpopulated with them. As to the larger dead bass noticed, he stated that those had been stocked last month. They had been held in small containers for a considerable period of time and some of them were in poor condition when placed in the lake. He estimated that probably ten percent of the last stocking died. They examined them and found markers which identified them as this lot of fish. So it looks like this season will be a good one for Greenbelt lake. When asked why the fish seemed to have a muddy taste, Dr. Littleford explained that it was probably due to where the fish came from. He said some of the Bluegills were obtained from the Susquehanna flats and would probably have a muddy taste due to the feeding up there. He also told us not to worry about parasites or worms as all fish have them to some extent. He concluded his remarks by stating that Greenbelt Lake at the present time is in very good condition and should provide very good fishing this season.

The Izaak Walton league is having a fishing tournament each month at the lake. The first one will be June 3 at 7 p.m. Anyone can enter the tournament, but in order to win a prize he must be a member of the Greenbelt Chapter of the Izaak Walton League. A prize will be given each tournament night for the largest legal bass. No undersize fish will be counted. It must be ten inches or better.

The bluegills should be hitting good now. Go down and try it, either with flies, small spoons or worms. Best of luck, see you next week.

My Daze

IT WAS STARTLING TO SEE THE MILK TRUCK DRIVER down a Coke as he rested against the side of his parked vehicle on Centerway the other afternoon. I won't reveal which dairy, however. His employers might get mad and insist he start drinking his own product, in public at least, whether he likes it or not.

SO MANY ROSES ABLOOM qualify our city for the nickname ROSEBELT. First aid for aphid afflicted roses is an insecticide spray of BLACK LEAF 40. Our neighbors, who told us of this, protect their perfect and gorgeous rose plants by using the Black Leaf soap solution spray by means of the vacuum cleaner.

LIBRARIAN MARJORIE MUIR has thought of a way people may exchange their used paper bound books for those they haven't read. She calls it the Exchange Post. It is outside the regular library system, and operates on one simple rule. You bring three, and get three. It's an easy, economical way to acquire that Mike Hammer mystery you haven't gotten to yet, somehow.
